

Mah Tovu How Goodly are your tents, O Jacob, your dwelling places,
O Israel!

These are the first words we utter upon entering the synagogue each morning. We enter the sanctuary and prepare ourselves for worship. We pause to acclimate ourselves to the surroundings of this holy space and we give glory to God as we prepare to worship.

We can look beyond the sanctuary and think about the experience one has when entering the synagogue. One of the most welcoming entry points in most congregations is their sisterhood.

The spirit of “sisterhood” and the mission of Women’s League enhance the lives of each of our members. By participating in this Women’s League/ Sisterhood Shabbat, we celebrate together the meaning of community.

Mah Tovu, how goodly, that you are celebrating the contributions and impact of your sisterhood and its members this Shabbat. Mah Tovu, how goodly, that 2018 is Women’s League’s 100th year anniversary. Mah Tovu, how goodly, that we begin this celebratory year together, sharing and enhancing the lives of all Conservative/Masorti Jewish women throughout North America.

Shabbat Shalom
