

Shalom friends,

If ever there was a time to celebrate Women's League for Conservative Judaism, Women's League Shabbat is that time! Not only are we here today to pray together, b'yachad, as a community but we are here to celebrate 104 years of Women's League and its successes.

The pandemic has brought us new opportunities for learning and engagement. And this unique and challenging time has brought us new kinds of opportunities for involvement.

Our International organization and the Regions have also created programming for the Sisterhood affiliates to be more successful. Over the last two years WLCJ has flourished with increased leadership on all three levels and from all over North America.

As you pray together, b'yachad today, we celebrate each other and all that we have done as an organization, as women and as Jews in the face of adversity. Wishing you a meaningful Shabbat.

Sisterly yours,

Debbi Kaner Goldich
